LAZZERI® agricultural group is the fruit of the labours of four generations sharing the same tradition and passion for agriculture. These unchanged values are espoused by the Lazzeri brothers representing the fourth generation; backed by sound intuition, they have succeeded in combining advanced organizational and technological know-how with an aptitude for human relations, thus further accelerating the Group's growth. LAZZERI® agricultural group, with the Lazzeri brothers at its helm, today represents a modern, efficient business that has crossed national boundaries: today it operates through divisions in Italy and Brazil, making quality, innovation consultancy and marketing the strong points of its products.
